Recommendation for Michael J. Stillman , Ph.D.

Mr. Michael J. Stillman is a medical writer at Boston Scientific Endosurgery and it is a pleasure for me to write this letter of recommendation.

The results of the European multi-center study on "Reduced Medication Dependency and Improved Symptoms and Quality of Life 12 Months after Enteryx Implantation for Gastroesophageal Reflux" have been consolidated, the peer review process in preparation for inclusion in the Journal of Clinical Gastroenterology has been successfully concluded and publication is in the offing. The presentation of the data in the form of posters at the UEGW 2004, held in Prague this past September, was also most successful.

It was thanks to his exceptional professional skills as a medical writer that Mr. Stillman made a vital contribution to the success of this project in respect of all editorial matters. Working with him was always very enjoyable and efficient.

Mr. Stillman's commitment to the field of medical writing is evidenced in particular by his high degree of expertise in the field and by his efficiency, precision and punctuality in conjunction with the preparation of medical and scientific publications and presentations.

Worthy of particular mention are his abilities to lend structure to complex issues and the large volumes of data associated with them and to visualize and present them in a clear and understandable fashion, always maintaining the context in the interest of good understanding.

I very strongly recommend Mr. Stillman for medical writing assignments and am very much looking forward to collaboration with him in future projects.

Dr. B. Schumacher
